Week 7: The Complex Sentence

Lecture No. 19:

- Coordination: Rules
- Exercises

Coordination: Rules 1

1. Coordinating conjunctions cannot connect different structures. Consider the following examples:

- The journalist is successful and well-liked. [adj +adj]
- The journalist is a success and well-liked.* [N+addj]

The first sentence above is correct for it connects two similar structures (two adjectives), whereas the second sentence is incorrect for it connects two different structures (a noun and an adjective).

Coordination: Rules 2

2. When a coordinating conjunction connects two dependent clauses, no punctuation is needed.
 - What I say and what I believe are none of your business.
3. When a coordinating conjunction connects two independent clauses, a comma precedes the conjunction.
 - I was tired after working all day, so I decided to go to bed early.

Coordination: Rules 3

4. The coordinating conjunctions (for, nor, and so) can only be used to connect independent clauses . Therefore, they cannot be used to connect single words, prepositional phrases, verb phrases, and dependent clauses.

Exercise 1: Correct the sentences so that the structures in each sentence are parallel. There is more than one way to correct some sentences.

1. In the summer we like going to the beach and to play tennis.
