Introduction to future forms

There is no one future tense in English. Instead, there are several verb forms that can refer to future time. Sometimes, several forms are possible to express a similar meaning, but not always.

will for prediction

- 1 The most common use of will is as an auxiliary verb to show future time. It expresses a future fact or prediction – at some time in the future this event will happen. This use is uncoloured by ideas such as intention, decision, arrangement, willingness, etc.

I'll be thirty in a few days' time.

It will be cold and wet tomorrow, I'm afraid.

Who do you think will win the match?

You'll feel better if you take this medicine.

I'll see you later.

This is the nearest English has to a neutral, pure future tense.

- 2 Will for a prediction can be based more on an opinion than a fact or evidence. It is often found with expressions such as I think ..., I hope ..., I'm sure ... .

I think Labour will win the next election.

I hope you'll come and visit me.

I'm sure you'll pass your exams.

- 3 Will is common in the main clause when there is a subordinate clause with if, when, before, etc. Note that we don't use will in the subordinate clause.

You'll break the glass if you aren't careful.

When you're ready, we'll start the meeting.*

I won't go until you arrive.

As soon as Peter comes, we'll have lunch.*

going to* for prediction

Going to can express a prediction based on a present fact. There is evidence now that something is sure to happen. We can see the future from the present.

Careful! That glass is going to fall over. Too late!
Look at that blue sky! It's going to be a lovely day.

Notes

- Sometimes there is little or no difference between will and going to.

We'll | run out of money if we aren't careful.
We're going to

- We use going to when we have physical evidence to support our prediction.

She's going to have a baby. (Look at her bump.)

Liverpool are going to win. (It's 4–0, and there are only five minutes left.)

That glass is going to fall. (It's rolling to the edge of the table.)

- We can use will when there is no such outside evidence. Our prediction is based on our own personal opinion. It can be more theoretical and abstract.

I'm sure you'll have a good time at the party. (This is my opinion.)

I reckon Liverpool will win. (Said the day before the match.)

The glass will break if it falls. (This is what happens to glasses that fall.)

- Compare the sentences.

I bet John will be late home. The traffic is always bad at this time.

(= my opinion)

John's going to be late home. He left a message on the answerphone.

(= a fact)

Don't lend Keith your car. He'll crash it. (= a theoretical prediction)

Look out! We're going to crash! (= a prediction based on evidence)

Decisions and intentions – will and going to

- 1 Will is used to express a decision or intention made at the moment of speaking.

I'll phone you back in a minute.

Give me a ring some time. We'll go out together.

'The phone's ringing.' 'I'll get it.'

- 2 Going to is used to express a future plan, decision, or intention made before the moment of speaking.

When she grows up, she's going to be a ballet dancer.

We're going to get married in the spring.

Other uses of will and shall

- 1 Will as a prediction is an auxiliary verb that simply shows future time. It has no real meaning.

Tomorrow will be cold and windy.

- 2 Will is also a modal auxiliary verb, and so it can express a variety of meanings. The meaning often depends on the meaning of the main verb.

I'll help you carry those bags. (= offer)

Will you marry me? (= willingness)

Will you open the window? (= request)

My car won't start. (= refusal)

I'll love you for ever. (= promise)

'The phone's ringing.'

'It'll be for me.' (= prediction about the present)

- 3 Shall is found mainly in questions. It is used with I and we.

Where shall I put your tea? (I'm asking for instructions.)

What shall we do tonight? (I'm asking for a decision.)

Shall I cook supper tonight? (I'm offering to help.)

Shall we eat out tonight? (I'm making a suggestion.)

Present Continuous for arrangements

- 1 The Present Continuous is used to express personal arrangements and fixed plans, especially when the time and place have been decided. A present tense is used because there is some reality in the present. The event is planned or decided, and we can see it coming. The event is usually in the near future.

I'm having lunch with Brian tomorrow.

What time are you meeting him?

Where are you having lunch?

What are you doing tonight?

- 2 The Present Continuous for future is often used with verbs of movement and activity.

Are you coming to the dance tonight?*

I'm meeting the director tomorrow.

I'm just taking the dog for a walk.

We're playing tennis this afternoon.

- 3 The Present Continuous is used to refer to arrangements between people. It is not used to refer to events that people can't control.

*It's going to rain this afternoon. It's ~~raining~~ this afternoon.

*The sun rises at 5.30 tomorrow. The sun is ~~rising~~ ...

Notes

- Sometimes there is little or no difference between the Present Continuous and going to to refer to the future.

We're seeing | Hamlet at the theatre tonight.
We're going to see

- When there is a difference, the Present Continuous emphasizes an arrangement with some reality in the present; going to expresses a person's intentions.

I'm seeing my girlfriend tonight.

*I'm going to ask her to marry me. I'm asking ...

What are you doing this weekend?

What are you going to do about the broken toilet? (= What have you decided to do?)

Present Simple for timetables

- 1 The Present Simple refers to a future event that is seen as unalterable because it is based on a timetable or calendar.

My flight leaves at 10.00.

Term starts on 4 April.

What time does the film start?

It's my birthday tomorrow.

- 2 It is used in subordinate clauses introduced by conjunctions such as if, when, before, as soon as, unless, etc.

We'll have a picnic if the weather stays fine.

When I get home, I'll cook the dinner.

I'll leave as soon as it stops raining.

Future Continuous

- 1 The Future Continuous expresses an activity that will be in progress before and after a time in the future.

Don't phone at 8.00. We'll be having supper.

This time tomorrow I'll be flying to New York.

- 2 The Future Continuous is used to refer to a future event that will happen in the natural course of events. This use is uncoloured by ideas such as intention, decision, arrangement, or willingness. As time goes by, this event will occur.

Don't worry about our guests. They'll be arriving any minute now.

We'll be going right back to the football after the break. (said on television)

Future Perfect

The Future Perfect refers to an action that will be completed before a definite time in the future. It is not a very common verb form.

I'll have done all my work by this evening.

Thank you
